

Demand Response Providers or Aggregators are companies that are familiar with Con Edison and NYISO's Demand Response programs and transact on behalf of end-use customers with Con Edison and NYISO. Aggregators can perform energy audits to determine a participant's enrollment capability in a demand response program. These companies can also consolidate demands from many small users to reach the minimum participation level.

Below are the NYISO approved Demand Response Providers who currently provide services in the Con Edison service territory.
